Your Journey, Your Group: Interest-Based Travel Ideas

Dear Friends,

This month, we've asked our Rebecca Recommends partners to spark your imagination with small-group travel ideas. These vacations are intended for your discerning clients who crave personalized, never overbearing attention; sophisticated, yet never stuffy luxury; and exclusive, never cookie-cutter experiences that showcase a particular region or culture.

From sun-kissed coastlines to cities buzzing with activity, these ideas will satisfy your clients' wanderlust. And what fun to host as you discover new destinations alongside them. From gastronomy to gardens, history to hiking, these immersive encounters with our world are what truly sets our DMCs apart ... and what will solidify your important role as your client's travel guru.

A taste of Athens: immersing in the culture and energy of Monastiraki.

Curated Greece - A Gastronomic Journey Across Athens, Crete, and Santorini

Small-group travel opens the door to truly meaningful and personalized experiences. With fewer travelers and more flexibility, advisors leading their own groups can connect more deeply with clients while shaping each day around what matters most to them.

Greece, with its rich natural and cultural diversity, is a mosaic of options for interest-based travel. It can offer endless possibilities for any passion, whether your travelers are history fanatics, nature explorers, or creative souls. The Curated Greece approach is all about building custom experiences from core pillars, based on what captivates your travelers and helping you lead with confidence.

Not sure where to start? Let food lead the way. Here's an itinerary idea for gastronomy enthusiasts, taking them through Athens, Crete, and Santorini with a focus on taste and local connection. The journey begins with a walking food tour in central Athens, where guests try signature street bites that define the capital's everyday flavors. On Crete, they will get hands-on with island traditions during a cooking class guided by a local cook, followed by a visit to a bee farm for honey tasting. Then, an organic, cold-pressed olive oil tasting is paired with a rustic farm-to-table lunch, cooked over wood fire with local produce.

Flying to Santorini, food meets landscape with a sunset catamaran cruise featuring a freshly grilled barbecue on board. The trip closes with a volcanic wine tasting — a bold finale that brings the island's "explosive" character straight into the glass.

Experience modern Dalmatian cuisine, enriched by historical influences, in a hands-on cooking class.

Dinaric Adventures, Croatia and Beyond - Craft Authentic Culinary Adventures for Food Lovers

When working with a defined theme or a strong interest, one must design the itinerary from the traveler's perspective - that of a passionate enthusiast. Even if something might seem like "too much" of that particular passion, or if we think they might be missing out on more sightseeing, we shouldn't hesitate to make suggestions – as locals and lovers of our destination – but we also shouldn't force it.

For example, for a gastronomy lover: Organize a cooking class, take them to a garden to pick fresh produce, give them an apron, snap photos of them in action - chopping vegetables, washing herbs. Take them to a winery, walk through the vineyards, show them the production process, pair food and wine guided by a sommelier ...

Just make it authentic – whether it's fishing or harvesting grapes – and eat local, just local. And enjoy, just enjoy.

Also, keep in mind that there are traditional recipes protected by UNESCO as part of the intangible cultural heritage. These are often simple, humble dishes – for example, in the Mediterranean, the base is often white wine, garlic, olive oil, and parsley – and there is no greater queen than that kind of basic recipe.

As travel designers, when we create these kinds of experiences, we fall in love with our travelers' passion, too.

Rolling vineyards stretch across the Champagne landscape, a tapestry of green under the French sky.

Découvertes, France - Effervescence & Elegance in Champagne

What if every sip told a story of elegance, heritage, and savoir-faire? With Découvertes DMC, your clients are invited to discover Champagne in the most immersive and luxurious way, far beyond the label.

This exclusive journey begins in the storied vineyards and hidden cellars of the region's most iconic names: Dom Pérignon, Ruinart, and more. Private visits offer behind-the-scenes access to centuries-old caves, culminating in a blending workshop where guests create their signature cuvée under the guidance of a master oenologist.

The cultural soul of Champagne is just as intoxicating. Stroll through Reims Cathedral, a Gothic masterpiece where kings were once crowned, before heading to Épernay for a private sabrage ceremony – the dramatic art of opening Champagne with a sword.

It's an experience perfect for wine lovers, culture seekers, and those looking to indulge in something truly memorable.

Brach Paris Atelier: An inspiring setting for gatherings.

Evok Collection, Paris, Venice, and Madrid - Curated Comfort and Stunning Cityscapes

Brach Paris and Brach Madrid offer a warm, elegant atmosphere where comfort, gastronomy, and wellness intertwine.

Ideal for intimate gatherings and small groups, both destinations provide a unique mix of laid-back sophistication and curated experiences. Whether you're enjoying a shared meal or organizing a creative workshop, Brach offers an inspiring and welcoming setting. The restaurants serve generous Mediterranean cuisine with Eastern influences, featuring sharing meals designed to bring people together.

Elevate your group experience with breathtaking views from the rooftops, where you can take in iconic cityscapes – from the Eiffel Tower in Paris to Madrid's vibrant Gran Vía (for hotel guests only).

Well-being is a central theme at both locations. In Paris, the Clarins spa features distinctive treatments like the "Precious Clarins Facial" and the "Essential Oil Balance Massage." In Madrid, La Capsule merges cutting-edge technology with holistic traditions, offering innovative experiences such as hyperbaric oxygen therapy, cryotherapy, and infrared detox sessions.

Whether you're planning a retreat, a corporate gathering, or simply a memorable stay, Brach Paris and Madrid combine stylish hospitality with rich experiences to create moments that truly stand out.

An aerial view of the stunning Castello del Sole Beach Resort & Spa, nestled by Lago Maggiore.

The Living Circle - Luxury Fed by Nature, Ascona and Zürich - Adventures in and Around Castello del Sole Beach Resort & Spa

The Castello Beach Resort & Spa, located in Ascona, Switzerland, offers a sprawling park as well as a private beach, from which guests can hop on the private boat for a ride on the picturesque Lago Maggiore. Part of the 140-hectare estate includes Cantina alla Maggia, the resort's own vineyard winery, which offers private tours and wine tastings ideal for small groups. Guests may also visit the Terreni alla Maggia agricultural estate. Founded in 1930, its fields produce wheat, rice, and corn – used for pasta, polenta, rice, and risotto – available for purchase, optionally part of wine tastings, and served in the restaurants of The Living Circle whenever possible.

An unforgettable culinary highlight is the hotel's Michelin-starred restaurant, Locanda Barbarossa, where the “Sapori del Nostro Orto” (“Flavors of Our Garden”) menu celebrates ingredients freshly harvested from the resort's own herb garden, bringing the essence of the land directly to the plate.

For those seeking adventure beyond food and wine, the stunning Verzasca Valley offers plenty of outdoor activities, such as a hike, a swim in the river, a canoe ride, and even guided rock-climbing courses at Ponte Brolla – perfect ways to discover the natural beauty of Ticino.

Where nature meets luxury: Gravetye Manor's gardens frame its elegant hotel and glass-walled restaurant, offering a truly immersive experience.

Gravetye Manor, Sussex, England - Discover World-Class Gardens and Cultural Treasures

Gravetye Manor is the ideal destination for small-group travel, offering an intimate, luxurious setting just an hour from London. The manor is perfect for groups of 6-8 guests, allowing for a private, personalized experience immersed in English countryside charm. Travel advisors seeking to host curated, interest-based trips, such as garden enthusiasts, artists, wine lovers, or cultural travelers, will find Gravetye a rich canvas on which to build immersive itineraries.

The manor's renowned gardens, designed by William Robinson, provide an inspiring backdrop for exclusive experiences: private garden tours with the head gardener, floral-arranging workshops, or relaxed afternoons enjoying the grounds followed by fine dining in the Michelin-starred restaurant. Guests can also enjoy private afternoon teas or wine tastings, with the option to visit local vineyards such as Ridgeview or Bluebell, both known for producing excellent English sparkling wines.

Nearby, cultural day trips to Farleys House, home of surrealist photographer Lee Miller, and Charleston Farmhouse, the heart of the Bloomsbury Group, offer rich creative and historical context. For history enthusiasts, Hever Castle, childhood home of Anne Boleyn, and Chartwell, Winston Churchill's beloved estate, are also within easy reach.

With countless world-class gardens nearby, such as Sissinghurst Castle Garden, created by Vita Sackville-West and considered one of the most iconic gardens in England, Gravetye is a garden lover's paradise.
