Global Grandstands: Where Sports and Travel Create Unforgettable Journeys

Dear Friends,

There is something undeniably magnetic about sport, from the hush of the golf course to the roar of the crowd. When we travel for sport, whether as spectators or participants, destinations can be transformed right in the moment, as the drama unfolds on the field, court, or course. With so many exciting events happening here in the States and around the world, cities are pulsing with energy, traditions are coming to the forefront, and your clients can find themselves immersed in experiences that extend far beyond the grandstand.

Read on for exciting, immersive opportunities that take a layered approach to sports travel. A seat at Wimbledon might be paired with champagne evenings and private dining, while a day at Lord's unfolds with behind-the-scenes access and refined moments at a posh London hotel. In Ireland, the anticipation of the Ryder Cup is complemented by rounds on legendary links along the Wild Atlantic Way, while in Madrid and Paris, tennis and Formula 1 naturally blend into a lifestyle that celebrates design, cuisine, and wellness.

Across our portfolio, these sporting moments serve as anchors for memorable adventures. Your clients might follow the Tour de France through vineyard-lined countryside, run the historic route of the Athens Marathon, or take on an exhilarating via ferrata climb above Croatia's Adriatic coast. In Australia and New Zealand, the experience might include behind-the-scenes access with elite athletes, a surf lesson with a former champion, or even sharing a meal with sporting legends.

The intensity of a match or race is balanced by moments of discovery and restoration, whether that's a sunset helicopter flight over the desert in Israel or a private cultural experience in Mexico City during the FIFA World Cup.

Imagine your clients truly experiencing the events that speak to their soul, whether courtside, trackside, or on the sea. From London to Limerick, from Auckland to Athens, our partners bring these global sporting moments to stirring, unforgettable travel stories.

Should you have any questions or wish to connect with one of our partners, please reach out.

Fondly,

Rebecca

Recovery Mode: Post-travel fatigue meets performance-level restoration. Babylonstoren's hot spa is the essential stop on any global itinerary for deep physical recharge.

Babylonstoren, Franschhoek Wine Valley, South Africa - Rest, Recharge & Reconnect with Oneself and Nature

As we cross continents for moments that matter, for celebrations, gatherings, global events, and seasonal highlights, the destination chosen beyond the main occasion becomes part of the story. Whether traveling for the Two Oceans Marathon in April, the Sanlam Cape Town Marathon in May, or the festive spirit of the Franschhoek Bastille Festival in July, Babylonstoren offers a place to arrive fully: grounded in the land and guided by a slower, more intentional rhythm.

Here, days unfold with ease and purpose. Life on the farm invites both discovery and restoration. Your active clients can walk the garden and working farm with an expert gardener, visit the water buffalo herd and dairy, and follow their nose through the essential oil distillery and olive oil production plant. They might step into the wine museum before lingering in the tasting room, travel back in time at Soetmelksvlei's working farmyard of the late 1800s, or join a hands-on workshop to bake their own sourdough loaf.

At the Old Bakery, long tables and generous themed feasts bring people together, exuberant, delicious, and abundant. Plates piled high are passed around, wine is poured, and joy is shared. Both the Carnivore Evenings and Italian-inspired Evenings celebrate the farm's beautiful produce.

The energy is building in New York City, home to the FIFA 2026 Final on July 19th.*

American Stories Travel, East Coast, United States - FIFA 2026: Turning a Match Ticket into The Ultimate American Travel Story

The 2026 FIFA World Cup runs from June 11th to July 19th, and it's set to be the biggest yet, with 48 teams and 104 matches across 16 host cities. For your clients, it's never just a match. It's the energy in the streets, the citywide buzz, and the feeling of being part of something the whole world is watching.

American Stories Travel doesn't sell match tickets, but they do design private, luxury experiences around them. In New York City, that can look like a five-star Manhattan hotel, pre-game dinners that feel like an event, and seamless stadium transfers to MetLife Stadium in New Jersey, which is slated to host the Final on July 19th. In Philadelphia, clients can pair matchday excitement with USA250, especially with a Lincoln Financial Field Round of 16 match on July 4th, then step right into the city's story with guided historic touring. In Boston, days are shaped around Gillette Stadium matches with luxury hotel stays, story-led historic experiences, and an easy coastal extension to Cape Cod that makes the time between matches feel just as memorable.

And even without tickets, fans will travel for the atmosphere. Think citywide viewing spots, pop-up celebrations, and the kind of communal cheering that turns strangers into friends for a night.

Share your clients' match cities, dates, and travel style, and American Stories Travel can shape a tailored plan that makes the whole journey feel effortless, not just the seat in the stadium.

Estadio Azteca, Mexico City: The legendary pitch where Pelé (1970) and Maradona (1986) made history, and the host of the 2026 FIFA World Cup opening match.

Journey Mexico - Unparalleled Access at the Height of Global Excitement

Much more than just a game, football is intrinsic to Mexican culture. You'll see the legacy of "the beautiful game" everywhere: colorful jerseys, street-food stands turned live-commentary studios, games unfolding over mezcal and tequila. On the big wins, celebrations spill into the streets, complete with car horns, cheers, and strangers embracing like long-lost friends.

In 2026, the world's attention returns to Mexico City for the FIFA World Cup. Estadio Azteca, host of the opening match, is no ordinary stadium. Pelé lifted the trophy here in 1970. Maradona etched his name into history on this turf in 1986. Now, a new chapter begins.

Journey curates an ultra-elevated way to experience this cultural moment. While millions descend on the capital, your clients will arrive by private helicopter directly to their hotel suite. They'll weave across the city from helipad to helipad between the stadium, Michelin-starred dining, and behind-the-scenes access to cultural hotspots.

When the city is at its most in-demand, they will experience it at its most intimate: private, after-hours entry to the Anthropology Museum, ancient ruins explored alongside an expert archaeologist, and even a private dinner at Frida Kahlo's former home, where the icon dined herself.

Curated Greece - Running Legends and World-Class Golf in Greece

Athletic excellence in Greece has been closely tied to ευεξία (evexia), the idea of holistic well-being of body and mind, since the Ancient Olympic Games were first held in Olympia in 776 BC. This philosophy still echoes across the country today through events that bring together sport, culture, and travel.

Each November, runners from around the world gather for the Athens Authentic Marathon, following the historic 42-kilometer route from Marathon to the Panathenaic Stadium in Athens, where the first-ever marathon took place. Known as one of the most challenging marathons, the course retraces the path of the ancient messenger Pheidippides while thousands line the streets to cheer runners toward the finish. For those seeking an even greater endurance test, Greece also hosts Spartathlon, a legendary 246-kilometer ultra-distance race from Athens to Sparta.

In the Peloponnese, the five-star luxury resort Costa Navarino pairs sport with refined hospitality. Consistently recognized as a leading international golf destination, the resort features four signature courses set between olive groves and Ionian Sea views. Each year, it hosts the AEGEAN Messinia Pro-Am, which in 2026 takes place in June. Amateur golfers play alongside PGA professionals in a relaxed yet competitive format, concluding with a prestigious prize ceremony and a celebratory gala dinner.

A ribbon of vibrant energy: millions of passionate fans cheering on the riders as the legendary Tour de France sweeps across the beautiful French countryside.

In July, the Tour de France (July 4 - 26, 2026) sweeps across the country, revealing vineyards, alpine passes, and timeless villages along its legendary route.

The Ultra-Trail du Mont-Blanc takes place in September and October each year. Centered around Chamonix in the French Alps, the race attracts elite and amateur runners who tackle ultra-distance routes that circle Mont Blanc, crossing France, Italy, and Switzerland. Non-runners can enjoy the spectacle as Chamonix buzzes with energy. Tour de France fans will enjoy the September La Haute Route Alps, a multi-day, high-end amateur cycling event that mirrors the Tour's stage style through the Alps.

These global gatherings offer far more than a seat at an extraordinary event. They create the perfect moment to experience France through its landscapes, culture, and art of living, where travel becomes part of the spectacle itself.

For those seeking to weave these iconic moments into seamless journeys across France, local expertise makes all the difference.
