5 minutes from Piazza San Marco and La Fenice opera house stands the Nolinski Venezia. Its majestic façade, adorned with mythical creatures, the daughters of Poseidon, reminds us of the potency that La Serenissima draws from its waters. Here takes shape Venetian history through the doors of the old Stock Exchange. Art Nouveau, Stile Liberty and Modernism are brought together in well-proportioned harmony, enhanced by the work of interior designers Lecoadic Scotto.

Over five floors, art and noble materials reign supreme: stucco marbro and marmorino contrast with mango wood joinery and paneling, while classical and contemporary works of art indulge the eye in even the most tucked away corners of the hotel. In tune with the city, the 43 rooms, including 13 suites, each unique in design, together with the Ottoman-inspired spa, offer a haven of peace and the promise of a unique and timeless stay.

From Il Caffè and its courtyard, to the Library Bar, with its four thousand books and a fresco by the artist Simon Buret, to the lobby, that manages to be both intimate and grand, to the auditorium that houses the Palais Royal Restaurant Venezia, and the pool, with its golden mosaic and view onto the Venetian skies and rooftops, every corner and detail embodies an exceptional sense of hospitality. This is, without a doubt, the grandest hotel experience in Venice. Some places have soul, while others are merely beautiful. And at Calle Larga XII Marzo, it is the Nolinski's soul that resonates.
